

Do You Ruin Everything by Being YOU?

Create Connection by Learning to Use Style and Love Supplies

Do you have a hard time talking to a certain person—or to a certain type of person? Because each individual is undeniably unique, your personal communication style might be inadvertently offensive to someone else, just like that person's way of behaving or speaking might grate on your nerves, or even offend you. Even though we don't intend to offend others, the way in which we think, communicate, and behave often does more damage than we realize. Sometimes our personal style even impacts those relationships that are the most precious to us.

*Join us for dinner and a workshop full of insight and entertainment
that will change your relationships for the better.*

DO YOU RUIN EVERYTHING BY BEING YOU?

An evening with communications expert

John R. Stoker

Date: Saturday, February 25, 2017

Time: 6:00 p.m.—9:00 p.m.

Dinner is included.

Place: Noah's Event Center
322 West 11000 South
South Jordan, Utah 84095

Tuition: Enjoy dinner and workshop for $50 per couple.

Or only $45 per couple if you pre-register!

To Register: Contact Stephanie at 801-319-9290 to pre-register.

